

Lake McDonald, in Glacier National Park. The first section of the transmountain road from the foot to the head of Lake McDonald will be opened this season.

Photo by J. C. Kiser. From National Park Service.

The late Dr. Alexander Graham Bell and John Joy Edson of Washington. Photo taken at Dr. Bell's summer home at Baddeck, Nova Scotia.

Photograph by J. C. Kiser.

Few Washingtonians have ever seen the Paraguay. The ship is the Paraguay, which recently damaged the span to such an extent that traffic was held up several hours.

Will Hays, head of the moving picture industry in America, meets the greatest screen actor, Jackie Coogan. Jackie, in costume, was working on a picture when he met the former Postmaster General.

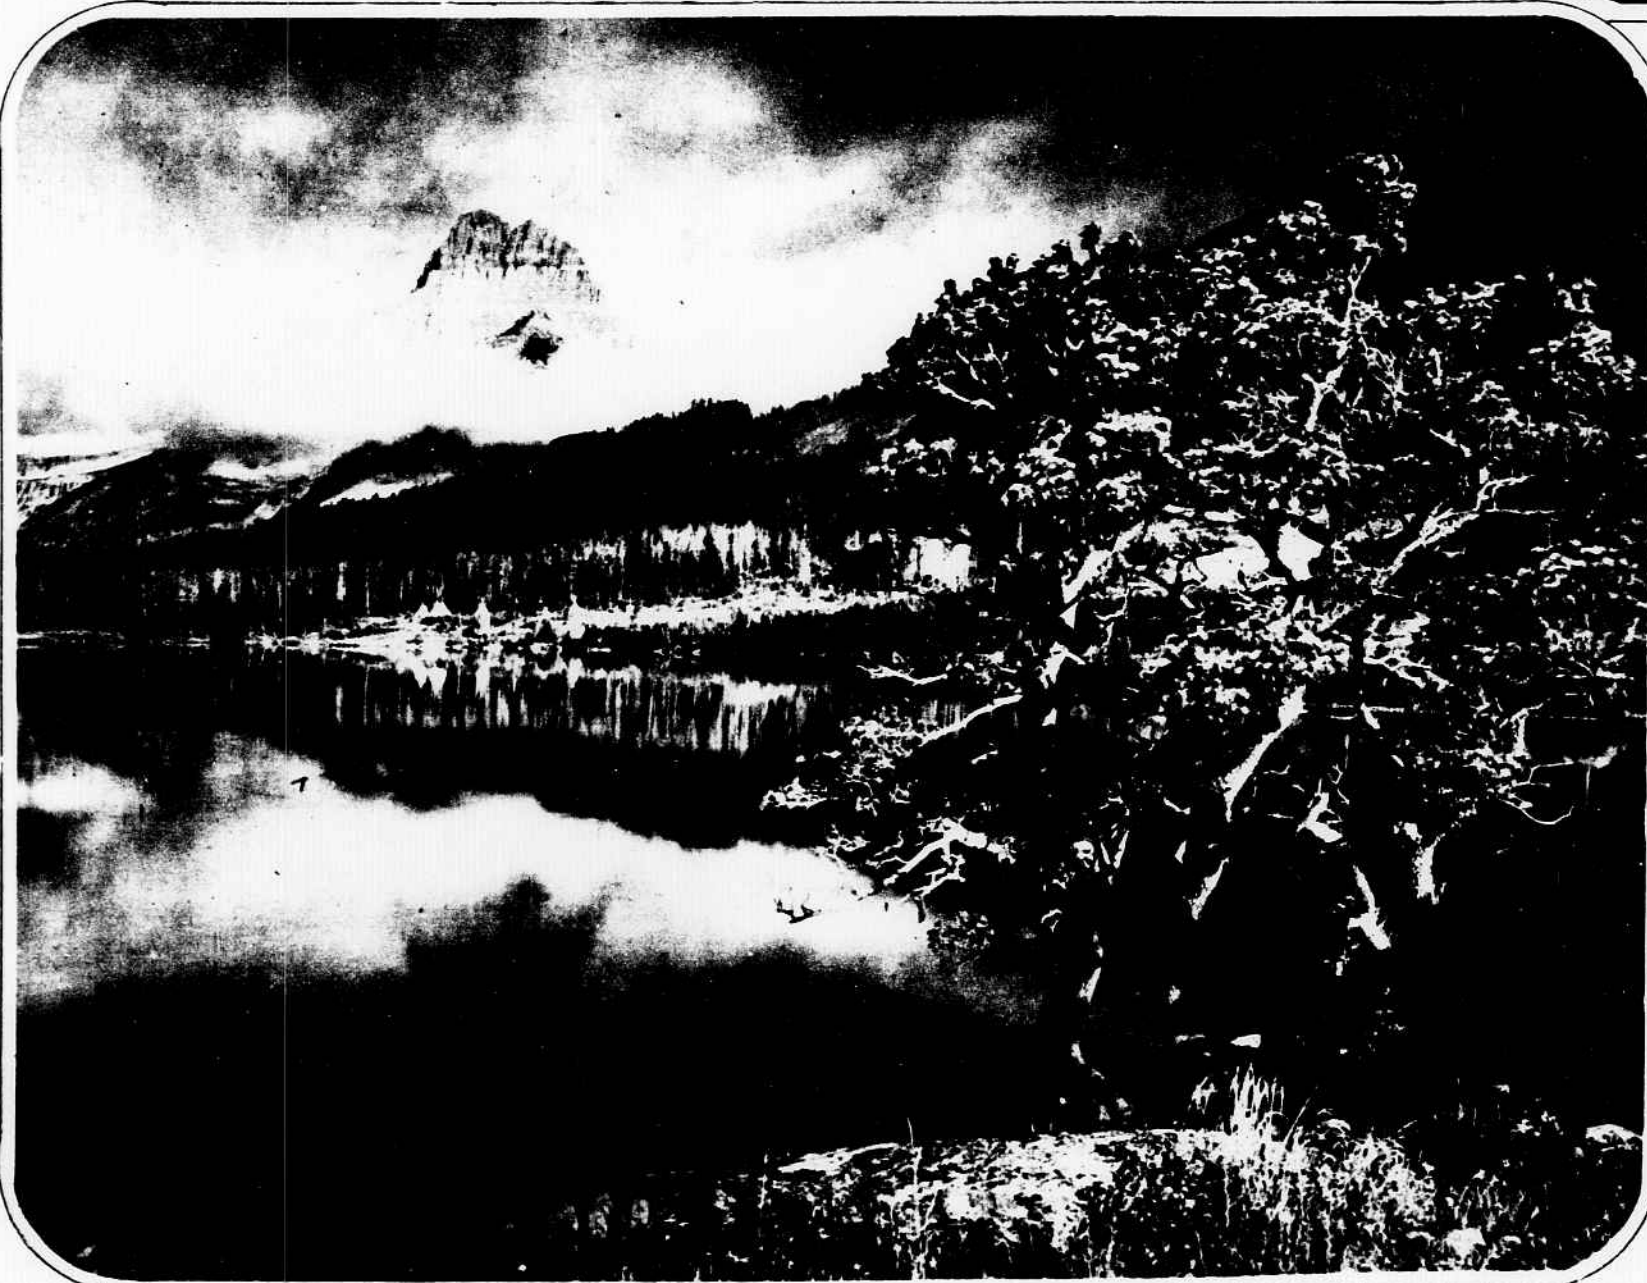

The street car lines of Chicago may have been tied up by the strike, but there was more than one way to get to work in the morning. These girls saved their shoe leather and were on the job in plenty of time.

P. & A. Photos.

Traffic on a Chicago street during the street railway strike. Photo snapped on State street near Madison.

Underwood & Underwood.

McDermott Lake and Mount Wilbur in Glacier National Park.

From National Park Service.

Miss Gertrude Ederle (right), winner of the first international long distance swim for women. She covered the three and a half miles at Manhattan Beach in a little more than one hour, thereby winning the Joseph P. Day trophy. Miss Hilda James, British swimming champion, who finished third in race, at left. Mr. Day, donor of the cup, in center.

Did you ever see such a thing? A "woolies" were being d

International.